Dear Clients and Partners,

I'm glad to share that Centravis continues to operate at full capacity. All our production systems—including electricity, water supply, and support infrastructure—remain stable and fully functional. This allows us to keep every production line running smoothly and deliver according to plan.

At the same time, our team is actively enhancing internal processes and seeking out innovative solutions to improve both efficiency and product quality. Thanks to this ongoing effort, you can count on us for reliable lead times, consistent deliveries, and tubes that meet your exact technical expectations.

We truly appreciate your trust and continued partnership.
